

Terms and Conditions

§1. Registration

The Micro Assembly Day is a one-day event organized and hosted by Finetech GmbH & Co. KG (in the following: host). By registering for the event, you give your agreement that Finetech will take note of your data. Please note that Finetech is using the services of Eventbrite to carry out the registration process. Refer to the Eventbrite Terms & Conditions for further details.

§2. Price & Services

Participating in the Micro Assembly Day includes following services:

- Presentations (available for download after the event)
- Joint dinner on May 16, 2018
- Food & beverage during coffee breaks, lunch on May 17, 2018

The participation fees for the Micro Assembly Day 2018 are €299.00 per person (€199.00 per person for early bird registration). Additional taxes apply. See also §3.

§3. Cancellation and Registration withdrawal

In case unforeseeable conditions force you to withdraw your registration, you are required to inform the host immediately in written form (i.e. via fax, mail or e-mail). Relevant is the day the host receives the registration withdrawal. Refer to the Eventbrite Terms & Conditions for further details of the cancellation procedure.

For no-show or late registration withdrawal less than 7 days prior to the date of the event, there will be no refund possible. In order to avoid possible withdrawal costs, you have the possibility to appoint a replacement participant, in which case the host should be informed in written form.

§4. Subject to change

The host reserves the right to make changes with regard to contents and/or organization, if required. However, the substantial nature of the event will not be affected. If necessary, appointed speakers and/or moderators might be replaced with similarly qualified persons.

§5. Liability in case of accidents

The host's liability is limited to cases of intention or gross negligence. Generally, participation in the event is at your own risk. During seminar times, participants are usually covered by their employer's statutory accident insurance. However, additional activities in the context of complementary programs are not covered.

§6. Photo, video and audio recordings

The participant irrevocably agrees that Finetech GmbH & Co. KG, its subsidiaries, representatives and people or entities acting on their behalf may make photos, video or audio recordings of him or her related to his or her participation in the Micro Assembly Day throughout the duration of the event.

Finetech, without restrictions regarding time, location or content, is entitled to use, copy, duplicate publish and distribute the material in original or modified form in all current and future media channels without the obligation to pay royalties or similar payments.

Publication of the material is limited to marketing, advertisement or information purposes, mainly on social media platforms. The participant relieves the host from all obligations related to the use of his or her pictures, videos or similar materials. Names of depicted persons will not be stated.
